

What Is Legacy Giving?

Legacy giving—also known as planned giving—is a way to support Lyra Baroque Orchestra in the future, most often by including Lyra in your will or trust or naming Lyra as a beneficiary of a retirement account, life insurance policy, or other asset.

Getting Started

Contact Lyra for a general conversation and then talk with your attorney or financial advisor.

Finalize your giving plans and submit a non-binding Letter of Intent to Lyra.

I give to Lyra Baroque Orchestra, a Minnesota 501(c)(3) nonprofit corporation, Federal Tax Identification Number 36-3369159, the sum of _____ or ____% of my estate for its general charitable purposes.

Is Legacy Giving Right for Me?

You do not need to be wealthy. Legacy gifts are for anyone who cares deeply about Lyra's mission. Many donors choose to leave a percentage of their estate or designate Lyra as a beneficiary—giving that does not affect your current income or financial security.

Simple Ways to Make a Legacy Gift

- Add a bequest to wills or trusts
- Add Lyra as a beneficiary in retirement accounts or life insurance policies

Flexibility, Recognition, and Peace of Mind

Legacy gifts are fully revocable and may be unrestricted or designated for a specific purpose. When you notify Lyra of your legacy gift, you will be welcomed into Lyra's Legacy Circle. Recognition is optional and giving remains confidential.
